

Facebook is taking a monopoly on social media platforms where people with public profiles can communicate to each other. Some people feel uncomfortable with that so we will propose our own app. In addition, our team feels like it can elevate the level of connectivity felt between users, allowing them to give more detail to their profile. Our app is going to be focused towards people 18+.